

2 Full-time Executives

(R&I Programmes)

Jobsplus Permit Number: 345/24

Jobsplus Vacancy Number: 405026

Role:

This is a compelling role for the right candidates, requiring active engagement in diverse research areas across academia, public entities and industry. The successful candidates will be responsible for implementing Research and Innovation funding programmes, monitoring project deliverables and networking with local stakeholders. Whilst an in-depth knowledge of scientific areas is not required, scientific appreciation is essential for effective administration of research programmes.

The Malta Council for Science & Technology

Duties:

1. Promoting the Unit's funding programmes and other initiatives across academic, public and private entities.
2. Developing and maintaining strong links with R&I entities, both local and foreign, to develop successful programmes and initiatives, as well as ensuring successful take-up.
3. Supporting and guiding applicants in the Unit's existing/new R&I funding programmes.
4. Supporting beneficiaries in the monitoring of their project deliverables, financial spend and reporting to ensure compliance with their contractual obligations with MCST.
5. As key team-players, working with other colleagues at MCST, as well as with external beneficiaries, evaluators and suppliers, to deliver a support structure for the effective management of R&I Programmes.
6. Supporting and/or managing niche initiatives and programmes associated with specific sectors.
7. Identifying performance metrics for the R&I programmes operated by the Unit and defining measures to understand programme performance.
8. Keeping abreast with the latest policy initiatives and providing feedback on policy documents as necessary.
9. Local and occasional foreign travel, to represent MCST and its initiatives, may be required.
10. Other duties as assigned by the R&I Director.
11. To perform other job-related duties as assigned. The above list is not exhaustive, and management may change or add tasks if and when required and according to the exigencies of MCST and its subsidiaries.
